Quake Toll 7,375

GUATEMALA CITY, Guatemala (AP) — Hundreds of aftershocks kept earthquake devastated Guatemala in turmoil today, with hundreds of new victims increasing the official death toll to 7,375.

Unofficial estimates ranged up to twice that number dead, 40,000 injured and 200,000 homeless.

Reports from the countryside brought in by mules and bicycle messengers told of giant landslides, fallen bridges and whole communities leveled by the shaking earth.

Two sharp aftershocks Friday afternoon caused widespread panic among the country's 6 million people already dazed by the earthquake that smashed into southern Mexico and most of Central America before dawn Wednesday.

President Kjell Eugenio Laugerud estimated more than one out of 10 buildings was damaged in the country. The majority of them are built of low-cost bricks of dried mud and straw that have been used for centuries in Latin America.

Guatemala was critically short of food, medicines, doctors, hospitals and drinking water. Broken sewage pipes flooded many communities. Electric power, communications and other utilities damaged by the earthquake continued to be erratic.

In some communities, starved survivors were reported eating rats and whatever else they could catch.

Fearing widespread epidemics, Laugerud on Friday night ordered mass vaccinations and the immediate burial of the dead in common graves. People had been crowding the cemeteries for three days trying to give individual burial to their dead.

Many bodies lay uncovered in morgues because of a shortage of coffins.

The emergency committee broadcast an appeal for all medical students and other medical personnel to help out as best as they can with typhoid vaccination work.

An estimated 5,000 U.S. citizens were in Guatemala, a favorite wintertime tourist area because of its Maya ruins and fine weather, when the earthquake hit.

The U.S. Embassy said it had received no reports of Americans killed or hurt. However, an embassy spokesman did not rule out the possibility that Americans in some of the more remote areas might have become victims of the earthquake.

DES Still Shows Up In Livers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says illegal traces of the controversial hormone DES are still showing up in beef livers, although experts say the rate appears to be dropping.

No trace of DES, diethyl stilbestrol, is permitted in human food because it has been shown to cause cancer in laboratory test animals. But government inspectors say none has been detected in the red meat portions, only in livers.

The Food and Drug Administration has proposed a ban on the use of DES as a livestock growth booster. The agency early last month allowed 30 days for manufacturers to seek a hearing on the proposal and said if no requests were received the ban would go into effect.

An FDA spokesman said late Friday no request for a hearing had been received but added, "We still think someone will and they'll probably wait until the last minute" to file a request. The deadline is February 12.

The USDA's animal and health inspection service said that in the final quarter of 1975 DES showed up in four livers of 825 animals slaughtered for human food, a rate of less than one-half of 1 per cent. All of the tainted livers were from beef animals. In the third quarter, 12 DES livers were detected among 710 examined, a rate of nearly 1.7 per cent.

Weather

A large high-pressure system currently over the Central Plains is expected to move eastward today, starting a slow warming trend in the area. Skies will be partly sunny today and the temperature will be in the low 30s. Under clear night-time skies, the temperature is expected to drop to the mid-20s. Sunday's weather will be partly cloudy and warmer, with a high in the low 40s. There is a 10 per cent chance of precipitation today, zero tonight, and 10 per cent Sunday. High Friday was 26 and the low was 11.

SIGNS OF WINTER — Thursday's storm of ice and snow left many beautiful sights in Central Ohio, including this formation of ice. If the weekend weather cooperates with the weatherman's forecast, most of the slippery ice should be gone by Monday. Temperatures are expected to climb into the 40s on Sunday.

Oklahoma Readies Precinct Meetings

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma's Democrats, courted as never before by presidential aspirants, prepared for precinct meetings today, the first step in picking national convention delegates. It's also the first chance for candidates to gauge voter attraction in the state.

Party officials said they expected a turnout of up to 50,000 because of intense campaigning in the state by some candidates. Participation by 20,000 Democrats has been considered usual in the past.

Gov. David Boren has said he wants the state to send 37 uncommitted Democrats to the national convention, and delegates not supporting any candidate are expected to get strong support at the precinct meetings.

But personal appearances by the candidates and heavy media coverage was expected to pay off with some preliminary commitments for at least four of the Democratic hopefuls.

Expected to draw the most consideration at precinct meetings were former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and former Oklahoma Sen. Fred R. Harris. All Democratic candidates are eligible for delegate backing.

Carter led the field in Iowa's first-in-the-nation caucuses last month, and Wallace got more support than any other Democrat in similar meetings in Mississippi. A month-long series of party caucuses is underway in Maine.

The precinct meetings in Oklahoma were to pick delegates to Feb. 28 county conventions, at which delegates will be chosen for the six congressional district meetings.

The congressional district conventions will select 28 of the state's 37 national convention delegates, with the other nine elected at the state convention in April.

Until Wallace scored in Mississippi's delegate meetings late last month, Carter and Bentsen had been expected to get the majority of any commitments made at Oklahoma's precinct meetings. Harris, who tried for the nomination in 1972, also had been expected to get some support.

Wallace supporters, after Mississippi, began mounting an all-out radio and television blitz in Oklahoma, urging Democrats to go to their precinct meetings Saturday "for your one chance to say who you want to be president."

Bentsen's forces, who had earlier felt they had a good chance of capturing a large block of committed votes in the state, had some second thoughts and they, too, increased their media outlay.

Carter, in addition to personal appearances, stepped up his television and radio advertising, making much of the fact he is a farmer and the first in his family to get a college education — "we all know what hard work is."

Kleindienst Portrait Stirs Fuss

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some people got plenty mad when a portrait of former Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst, a convicted criminal, was hung in the Justice Department. They're writing angry letters about it.

"This is tantamount to putting Al Capone's portrait in the police department," protested an Illinois man, one of 16 writers who denounced the action in letters to Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi.

"Disgusting and inexcusable," declared a Missouri man.

"A disgraceful blight on our national system of justice" was the message from a Californian.

The trickle of letters, all unfavorable, since the portrait-hanging ceremony Jan. 23 may be no real measure of public sentiment. Still, a department spokesman said only two other portrait-hangings have provoked any letters at all.

The four to six previous letters dealt with the contemporary style of the other two paintings, not with the propriety of hanging them.

The Kleindienst portrait provoked a Minnesota man to exclaim: "How can the American people have faith in a Department of Justice which harbors, protects and finally honors men who abuse their public trust?"

Kleindienst, now a private lawyer in Washington, pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge of failing to testify fully to the Senate Judiciary Committee during his confirmation hearings when he denied there was White House pressure to drop an antitrust suit against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Winter Road Work Proving Costly

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The state Transportation Department says it already has spent more for snow and ice control materials this winter than it did for the entire 1974-75 season.

Director Richard Jackson said the department has spent more than $6.5 million for the materials, compared with $6.4 million for the whole season last winter.

President Starts Swinging In New Hampshire

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP) — President Ford began taking it personally today.

After a campaign by proxy and organization, Ford was to seek New Hampshire presidential primary votes for himself on a two-day mission to the state where he faces his first challenge from Ronald Reagan.

With it, Ford's Republican allies hope to give a major lift to what has been a troubled campaign effort.

The President, his wife and daughter Susan were flying into Manchester for the weekend of campaigning. The emphasis clearly was on an effort to present Ford the President, not the campaigning politician.

"The American people in 1976 are not concerned with the polished image of candidates but rather with the hard issues facing the country," Ford said Friday.

"They are concerned about jobs ...

about the cost of health care ... about housing, education, crime ... the cost of housing and the price of groceries," the President told some 500 Republicans from the northeastern states at a conference in Arlington, Va.

That seemed aimed at the campaigning Reagan, who has made four trips to New Hampshire so far, and is due to return Monday.

Ford's schedule had only one totally political event on it: a Sunday appearance before his campaign workers and supporters in Concord. Some 2,000 to 2,500 people were invited.

The rest of the route was tailored to the presidential image. There was a meeting today with New Hampshire state and local officials for a discussion of the new federal budget.

Ford showed Friday how that kind of meeting meshes with his campaign. He told the Republican conference that New Hampshire would get $125 million in revenue sharing funds under his budget proposal to extend the program for more than five years.

"I don't want to cut it out, I want to make sure it goes to New Hampshire," Ford said, in an obvious reference to Reagan's $90 billion budget cutting plan, which envisioned an end to revenue sharing.

Reagan has since dropped the figure, saying it was only an example, but not the concept, which he said is to return government powers and programs to state and local levels.

Ford addresses the Nashua Chamber of Commerce tonight. His visit ends Sunday with a news conference and a speech to students at the University of New Hampshire in Durham.

In pace and content, the visit contrasts sharply with Ford's campaign stint on Sept. 11 in behalf of Republican Louis Wyman, the ultimate loser in a special Senate election.

Hearst Tape Recording Studied

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — With a film of an armed Patricia Hearst having been shown to the jury, the judge in her trial will decide whether to admit as evidence a tape recording in which Miss Hearst said she willingly robbed a bank with a loaded gun.

U.S. Dist. Judge Oliver J. Carter said at the end of Friday's court session that he will hear testimony about the tape from the prosecution and the defense on Monday.

Defense attorney Al Johnson said "there is a good chance" Miss Hearst will testify in her own behalf that her Symbionese Liberation Army kidnappers forced her to make the tape from a prepared script.

The jury will not be present during the hearing.

A slow-motion film of Miss Hearst armed with a sawed-off carbine inside the bank was shown during Friday's court session.

Carter said he would allow both sides to present "whatever testimony" they want at the hearing on the tape.

The tape surfaced April 24, 1974. On it, the newspaper heiress' soft voice says that "my comrades and I expropriated $10,660.02 from the Sunset branch of the Hibernia Bank" nine days earlier.

"My gun was loaded, and at no time did any of my comrades intentionally point their guns at me," Miss Hearst said in the tape.

The defense says her carbine was empty and that SLA leader Donald "Cinque" DeFreeze trained his weapon on her during the robbery.

U.S. Atty. James L. Browning Jr. calls the tape "a confession of guilt" and wants it introduced as evidence against Miss Hearst, 21.

Chief defense counsel F. Lee Bailey said in his opening statement last Wednesday that the script for the tape was written by slain SLA member Angela Atwood and the defendant was forced to recite it.

Monday's hearing also will consider whether Miss Hearst's alleged spraying of a sporting goods store with gunfire in Los Angeles a month after the robbery should be considered as evidence.

A youth also was taken captive for 12 hours after the incident, and Miss Hearst faces state charges of kidnapping, robbery and assault.

Miss Hearst, now on trial on federal bank robbery charges, faces a maximum of 35 years in prison if convicted. The defense maintains she was still a kidnap victim and acted in fear of her life.

She was kidnapped Feb. 4, 1974, from her Berkeley apartment by SLA members and captured by the FBI last Sept. 18 after a bizarre 19-month odyssey through the terrorist underground.

Miss Hearst viewed the bank film over Bailey's shoulder. The jury saw the defendant on film visibly shout once early in the holdup and thrust her semiautomatic rifle and shout even more strongly later.

Bailey said outside the courtroom that the first movement of her lips was when she announced herself as "Tania," the name given her by the terrorist SLA, as ordered by her kidnappers.

The second shout, he said, was apparently a frightened reaction to the shooting of two bystanders. "She was absolutely terrified," said Bailey.

Operating Costs Hurting Schools

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State School Supt. Martin Essex said Friday inflationary increases in operating costs of schools are eating away at funds allocated for education.

He said a recent cost-per-pupil study shows that although the amount of money spent on education in increasing, the percentage of each school's budget designated for instruction is decreasing.

Inflation has necessitated greater expenditures for such operating costs as fuel for buildings, transporting students and purchasing essential supplies, he said.

The campaign will deal with renewal by letter of Century Club and large gift contributors and personal contacts. They are expanding this effort so the Pickaway County Family YMCA can continue to offer improved programs and meet inflationary pressures. Two new programs made possible through last year's contributors are family physical fitness and expanded activities for girls.

So many callers recently have asked me about a mimeographed paper concerning the federal bill "Child and Family Services Act." After obtaining a copy of the memo, I read it through carefully and compared them with an actual copy of the bill itself (H.R. 2966). The bill itself is seventy-one, large-type, double spaced legal pages. Nowhere does the bill even imply the allegations in the memo, which says the government is about to become one big national parent.

To quote Sec. 2 (a) of the bill: "The Congress finds that: (1) the family is the primary and the most fundamental influence on children; (2) child and family service programs must build upon and strengthen the role of the family and must be provided on a voluntary basis only to children whose parents or legal guardians request such services, with a view toward offering families the options they believe to be most appropriate for their particular needs."

Also, Senator Mondale made the following statements concerning the bill and memo: "Wild and completely false allegations are being made that this legislation would somehow give children the legal right to disobey their parents; somehow prohibit parents from providing religious training to their children; somehow give the Government authority over child rearing; and somehow give children the right to complain about their parents and teachers 'without fear of reprisal.'"

"These allegations are absolutely and completely false. There is not a shred of truth in any one of them. If there were, neither I nor any member of Congress would be sponsoring this legislation."

"In fact, research reveals that these allegations are based on a document that was not even prepared in this country, and has no relevance to it. They are derived from a 'Charter of Children's Rights' of the British Advisory Center of Education and the National Council of Civil Liberties which Senator Curtis cited during Senate debate in 1971."

Briefly, the bill offers to families on a totally voluntary basis access to health, education and child care services which they want for their children but can't afford. It offers funds for prenatal health care and early medical screening and treatment to detect and remedy handicapping conditions and day care services for working mothers. The bill specifically limits eligibility for these services to "children whose parents or guardians request such services." I might add that the bill specifically mentions eligibility for handicapped children, minorities, migrant workers' children, and Indian children.

The price tag as it appears now (the bill is in Committee) is 150 million for this year, ending June 30, 1976; 200 million for 1977; 500 million for 1978, and 1 billion for 1979. Looks awful, but I wonder how much we are spending for children around the world, and other peoples' wars, and giving away?

At least lots of interest has been generated about this bill. Incidentally, it is supported by: PTA, the AFL-CIO, the United Methodist Church, the U.S. Catholic Conference, the United Church of Christ, the Baptist and Lutheran Churches, the UAW, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Child Welfare League of America, the National Council of Jewish Women, the American Home Economics Association, the National Association of Retarded Children, and the National Education Association.

A total of 124 Representatives and Senators sponsored the bill.

If you would like to look over the bill and evaluate it yourself, feel free to stop by our office. Sorry, it was tough to get even one copy, so I can't send it out. I also have a list of how Congress voted on a similar bill in 1971; it passed, but was vetoed by the then President. I keep wondering, "who wrote that memo?"

What is 10 feet wide, 15 feet long, and contains everything you need for a salad? A 4-H vegetable garden has lettuce, carrots, onions, radishes, tomatoes and lots more. You can grow your own salad as well as other vegetables, and the 4-H vegetable gardening projects tell you how.

The vegetable gardening project tells how many seeds and plants you need, when to plant them, how far apart and how deep to plant them, how to take care of them, and when to harvest them.

All you need to do is join 4-H. If you are between ages 9 and 19, you can be a 4-H member. If you are older, you can be a 4-H advisor who helps members grow more than garden vegetables. If gardening isn't one of your interests, there are 179 other 4-H projects to choose from.

One of these other projects is All American Foods. Star-spangled salads and Yankee snickerdoodles are among the foods 4-H'ers are making to celebrate the Bicentennial this year. They are also using all-American know-how to make Jumbalaya and Squanto's beans. 4-H'ers learn to make these and other family favorites in the 4-H All American Foods project.

All American Foods is one of the seventeen food and nutrition projects for youth between ages 9 and 19. Last year more than 63,200 boys and girls learned about buying food, planning balanced meals, preparing and serving food in these projects.

All American Foods is likely to be a Bicentennial favorite, since the project mixes historical fact with food facts. For example, a 4-H'er learns more than how to make chocolate brownies, and how to melt chocolate to prevent it from burning. He or she also learns how Montezuma presented "chocolatl" to Cortez thinking he was a god.

4-H groups are organizing now in Pickaway County. For information about these and many other 4-H projects contact the County Extension Office, at 137 W. Franklin Street, or call 474-7534.

Pesticide Training Schedules

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent
Agriculture

Orchard, greenhouse, vegetable, truck crop and ornamental growers need to participate in special pesticide applicator training, reports George Hamrick, County Extension Agent. With federal legislation and regulations requiring each state to conduct educational training as a part of their program, the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service has planned an educational program for private pesticide applicators.

A self study program is available for private applicators. Extension bulletins and special materials are available at the County Extension Office.

In addition a schedule of regional training schools has been planned for the specialized agricultural producers. The schedule for Central Ohio is as follows: Turf and Ornamentals - February 17, 1976, Ramada Inn East, I-70 and Brice Road, Columbus; Vegetable and Truck Crops - February 23, 1976, Eastland Vocational School, Hamilton Road, South off Rt. 33, Columbus; Orchard and Small Fruits - February 23, 1976, Blacklick Metropolitan Park Building, I-70 East, Rt. 256, Columbus; Greenhouse and Bedding Plants - March 3, 1976, Eastland Vocational School, Hamilton Road, South off Rt. 33, Columbus.

County training is planned for farmers producing grain crops and forages. Information on all these meetings is available at the County Extension Office.

Who should participate in this private pesticide applicator training? This is difficult to answer, as all producers of agricultural products should know how to apply the proper pesticides safely. Regulations state that private applicators who desire to apply "restricted use" pesticides must be certified. Since EPA is in the process of classifying all pesticides and the latest "restricted use" pesticides must be certified. Since EPA is in the process of classifying all pesticides and the latest "restricted use" presumptive list was released last July complete information is not available. When the final "restricted use" pesticide list will be available is not known.

Regardless of regulations, agricultural producers need to apply pesticides correctly, advises George Hamrick, County Agent, Pickaway County.

Ohio Corn Performance Test Report Lists 1975 Results

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Results of the 1975 Ohio Corn Performance Testing program were recently published. Agronomy Department Series 215 publication, "Ohio Corn Performance Test 1975," lists data gathered at the test locations in northwestern, northeastern and southwestern Ohio. The tests are sponsored by the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center and the Ohio Cooperative Extension Service.

Fifty-one commercial seed companies submitted up to five hybrids for the tests, says Lawrence N. Shepherd, Extension Agronomist at The Ohio State University and chairman of the Corn Performance Test Operating Committee. He points out that the information on each hybrid contained in the report came from two locations per region in one year.

In the Northwest Region, 134 entries were tested. Results at Hoytville were yields of from 109.9 to 183.2 bushels per acre, with an average of 157.3. At Bowling Green, the average was 178.8 bushels per acre, with a range of 141 to 204.8. The average for 76 hybrids that have been tested two years in the region was 138.4.

In the Southwest Region, 150 entries were tested. At South Charleston the average was 180.4 bushels per acre with a top yield of 204.8 and a low of 141. The two-year average for 80 entries was 167.1.

Northeast Region tests were on 84 entries near Canfield and Atwater. At Canfield the average yield was 145.5 bushels per acre, with a range of 105.9 to 172.7. At Atwater, the average was 136.7, and the high was 166 with a 97.1 low.

High-Lysine hybrids were tested at the OARDC Branch near South Charleston. Yields of the 12 entries varied from 138.8 bushels per acre to 176. The average was 155.7. The average for check hybrids tested under similar conditions was 194.7.

Other items, in addition to yield, noted in the tests include emergence, plant population, date of mid-silk, plant-ear height, lodging percentage, moisture at harvest and test weight. These are listed in the report, which is available at the County Extension Office. Growing conditions are also noted.

Yellow dent hybrids have been tested since 1972, and high lysine hybrid testing was started in 1973, according to Shepherd.

Pruning Shrubs, Trees
And Fruit Trees

Now is the time to evaluate your plants for pruning needs. Specific leaflets and bulletins are available from the County Extension Office, such as: Landscape Facts - Pruning Deciduous Shrubs, Evergreens, Hedges, Junipers and Taxus, Pines and Spruce, Trees and Vines and Ground Covers; and Ohio CES - Extension Bulletins 528, Pruning and Training Fruits, and 543, Pruning Landscape Plants.

Animals Gnawing Shrubs and Trees

With winter in full force and snow on the ground, check your shrubs and trees for signs of animals gnawing near the base or squirrels and deer nibbling at the tips. C. Marshall Ritter of Penn State University suggests that creosote oil soaked "dolls" hung in fruit orchards at deer browsing heights has given some control to nibbling. Wire around the base of plants will help protect plants from gnawing animals.

Salt Damage

Be aware that salt used to melt the ice on sidewalks and driveways can cause damage to plants; evergreens are particularly sensitive. Encourage use of other abrasives to de-ice areas. Sawdust and sand give traction, but do not melt ice and easily track into the house, however, they keep plants from being damaged. Anti-desiccants are useful in preventing winter damage and help reduce salt injury caused by aerial drift. Noticeable damage from salt is needle browning or a rust color. Wash off plants or leach salt out of root zone with several thorough waterings immediately or as soon as possible when salt accumulation is noticed.

House Plant Problems

Over-watering is the major concern. You can always add water to a dry plant, but you can't remove water from one that has wet soil. Drooping leaves can be caused by sudden changes in temperature and lack of light.

News For Homemakers

By BEVERLY S. BECHTEL
County Extension Agent
Home Economics

So many callers recently have asked me about a mimeographed paper concerning the federal bill "Child and Family Services Act." After obtaining a copy of the memo, I read it through carefully and compared them with an actual copy of the bill itself (H.R. 2066). The bill itself is seventy-one, large-type, double spaced legal pages. Nowhere does the bill even imply the allegations in the memo, which says the government is about to become one big national parent.

To quote Sec. 2 (a) of the bill: "The Congress finds that - (1) the family is the primary and the most fundamental influence on children; (2) child and family service programs must build upon and strengthen the role of the family and must be provided on a voluntary basis only to children whose parents or legal guardians request such services, with a view toward offering families the options they believe to be most appropriate for their particular needs."

Also, Senator Mondale made the following statements concerning the bill and memo: "Wild and completely false allegations are being made that this legislation would somehow give children the legal right to disobey their parents; somehow prohibit parents from providing religious training to their children; somehow give the Government authority over child rearing; and somehow give children the right to complain about their parents and teachers 'without fear of reprisal.'"

"These allegations are absolutely and completely false. There is not a shred of truth in any one of them. If there were, neither I nor any member of Congress would be sponsoring this legislation."

"In fact, research reveals that these allegations are based on a document that was not even prepared in this country, and has no relevance to it. They are derived from a 'Charter of

Children's Rights" of the British Advisory Center of Education and the National Council of Civil Liberties which Senator Curtis cited during Senate debate in 1971."

Briefly, the bill offers to families on a totally voluntary basis access to health, education and child care services which they want for their children but can't afford. It offers funds for prenatal health care and early medical screening and treatment to detect and remedy handicapping conditions and day care services for working mothers. The bill specifically limits eligibility for these services to "children whose parents or guardians request such services." I might add that the bill specifically mentions eligibility for handicapped children, minorities, migrant workers' children, and Indian children.

The price tag as it appears now (the bill is in Committee) is 150 million for this year, ending June 30, 1976; 200 million for 1977; 500 million for 1977, and 1 billion for 1978. Looks awful, but I wonder how much we are spending for children around the world, and other peoples' wars, and giving away?

At least lots of interest has been generated about this bill. Incidentally, it is supported by: PTA, the AFL-CIO, the United Methodist Church, the U.S. Catholic Conference, the United Church of Christ, the Baptist and Lutheran Churches, the UAW, the American Academy of Pediatrics, the Child Welfare League of America, the National Council of Jewish Women, the American Home Economics Association, the National Association of Retarded Children, and the National Education Association.

A total of 124 Representatives and Senators sponsored the bill.

If you would like to look over the bill and evaluate it yourself, feel free to stop by our office. Sorry, it was tough to get even one copy, so I can't send it out. I also have a list of how Congress voted on a similar bill in 1971; it passed, but was vetoed by the then President. I keep wondering, "who wrote that memo?"

4-H

What is 10 feet wide, 15 feet long, and contains everything you need for a salad? A 4-H vegetable garden has lettuce, carrots, onions, radishes, tomatoes and lots more. You can grow your own salad as well as other vegetables, and the 4-H vegetable gardening projects tell you how.

The vegetable gardening project tells how many seeds and plants you need, when to plant them, how far apart and how deep to plant them, how to take care of them, and when to harvest them.

All you need to do is join 4-H. If you are between ages 9 and 19, you can be a 4-H member. If you are older, you can be a 4-H advisor who helps members grow more than garden vegetables. If gardening isn't one of your interests, there are 179 other 4-H projects to choose from.

One of these other projects is All American Foods. Star-spangled salads and Yankee snickerdoodles are among the foods 4-H'ers are making to celebrate the Bicentennial this year. They are also using all-American know-how to make Jumbalaya and Squanto's beans. 4-H'ers learn to make these and other family favorites in the 4-H All American Foods project.

All American Foods is one of the seventeen food and nutrition projects for youth between ages 9 and 19. Last year more than 63,200 boys and girls learned about buying food, planning balanced meals, preparing and serving food in these projects.

All American Foods is likely to be a Bicentennial favorite, since the project mixes historical fact with food facts. For example, a 4-H'er learns more than how to make chocolate brownies, and how to melt chocolate to prevent it from burning. He or she also learns how Montezuma presented "chocolati" to Cortez thinking he was a god.

4-H groups are organizing now in Pickaway County. For information about these and many other 4-H projects contact the County Extension Office, at 137 W. Franklin Street, or call 474-7534.

Mrs. Midkiff Is Featured Teacher

FEATURED TEACHER — Mrs. Betty Midkiff, art teacher at Teays Valley, has been in the school system since the high school opened. Here she is shown in her art classroom with students working on individual projects.

By BONNIE HALL

In commemoration of the school's 15th year in existence, Mrs. Betty Midkiff is featured this week as being one of the teachers who has been at TVHS since 1961.

Mrs. Midkiff graduated from Marshall University with some additional work at Ohio State. She is currently in graduate study at Ohio University. Teays Valley is the fourth school in which she has taught; the others being Scioto High School, A Florida school and a West Virginia school.

Art I and II, independent studies, ceramics, and drawing are the classes she teaches. Perspective drawing and ceramics are her favorite subjects to teach. Perspective drawing is most exact work and is easy to grade, she stated.

The ceramics class is only open to juniors and seniors. Mrs. Midkiff goes on to explain that "only the most interested students are in this class. And I never have to tell anyone to be quiet or to get busy."

Over the years the most significant changes that she has seen are the way the students are much more informal, the dress code, and the student body's language.

"The main improvement that could be made in our school is that the students should have more time to socialize with one another, even though this is hard to do because of the shortened schedules."

One final thought that this spirited teacher wanted to project is that no one should ever be bored. Mrs. Midkiff's family is very close and her hobbies include Bible study, painting, sewing, and refinishing furniture. "There's just too many things in this big wide world to leave anybody empty, lonely, or bored!"

LINDA BALL

Linda Ball Heads The Mat Stats

By CATHY HENSON

Junior Linda Ball is the president of the Mat Stats of TVHS. The Mat Stats is a second-year organization designed to help the wrestling coaches, encourage the wrestlers, and to promote good school spirit about the sport.

Linda likes being a stat because, "I like wrestling and I get to meet a lot of other people from the other schools that also like wrestling."

According to Linda, the biggest responsibility as president is to help keep everything organized for the coaches.

"We also have to be willing to dedicate almost all of our weekends to go to the wrestling meets," she says.

The size of the club has decreased because it is so time consuming. Those participating this year are Linda Ball, Kathy Williamson, Linda Leming, Vickie Urdack, Tami Wells, Sandy Shaw, Pam Wells, and Debbie Gagan.

Linda is also active in the ski club, student council, and she is also a football stat. Her favorite hobbies are horseback riding, ice skating, and going to wrestling meets and basketball games.

Forward Talks Of TV Team

DAVE SCHIFF

By DONNA JARROLL

"The people at Teays Valley are friendly, but I would like to see the school have more spirit," says Dave Schiff, senior forward for the TV Vikings.

Dave has played on Teays Valley's team all four years of high school. He averages 12 points a game. Basketball, music, friends, and just having a good time are some of his main interests. He plans to attend college after he graduates.

Dave lives with his parents, Dale and Jean Schiff, Route 2, Ashville.

"The team has good offensive abilities but we have to work hard on our defense," said the forward. He thinks that Franklin Heights and Hamilton were both tough teams and that Dublin was the easiest. He also thinks Circleville has the most spirit because of the rivalry between the two schools.

Mrs. Midkiff Is Featured Teacher

FEATURED TEACHER — Mrs. Betty Midkiff, art teacher at Teays Valley, has been in the school system since the high school opened. Here she is shown in her art classroom with students working on individual projects.

By BONNIE HALL

In commemoration of the school's 15th year in existence, Mrs. Betty Midkiff is featured this week as being one of the teachers who has been at TVHS since 1961.

Mrs. Midkiff graduated from Marshall University with some additional work at Ohio State. She is currently in graduate study at Ohio University. Teays Valley is the fourth school in which she has taught; the others being Scioto High School, A Florida school and a West Virginia school.

Art I and II, independent studies, ceramics, and drawing are the classes she teaches. Perspective drawing and ceramics are her favorite subjects to teach. Perspective drawing is most exact work and is easy to grade, she stated.

The ceramics class is only open to juniors and seniors. Mrs. Midkiff goes on to explain that "only the most interested students are in this class. And I never have to tell anyone to be quiet or to get busy."

Over the years the most significant changes that she has seen are the way the students are much more informal, the dress code, and the student body's language.

"The main improvement that could be made in our school is that the students should have more time to socialize with one another, even though this is hard to do because of the shortened schedules."

One final thought that this spirited teacher wanted to project is that no one should ever be bored. Mrs. Midkiff's family is very close and her hobbies include Bible study, painting, sewing, and refinishing furniture. "There's just too many things in this big wide world to leave anybody empty, lonely, or bored!"

Wrestler Featured

BILL TOOLE

By LINDA LEMING
and BONNIE HALL

Bill Toole is this week's featured wrestler. He is the son of Russell and Helen Toole, 5088 Ashville Road.

This is Bill's third year as a varsity heavyweight. His current record for this year is 12-1-1. Listening to some of the varsity football players enthusiasm for wrestling when he played rookie football is how Bill really became interested in the sport.

Bill gives a lot of the credit for his good record to Coach Floyd Gray. I know that if he had not come to TV, I wouldn't have had the success at wrestling that I have."

Coach Gray takes a personal interest in each wrestler. This special interest has reflected on the team as it hasn't been beaten in a dual meet in two years, Toole reflects.

Shooting pool, skiing, and watching late movies are a few of Bill's hobbies. His other interests include football, wrestling and shot putting.

After graduation Bill plans to attend a college where he can play football. Kevin Adkins from Hamilton Township is who Bill remembers as the toughest guy to compete against. He also thinks TV is one of the best schools to have a good spirit for wrestling.

February 16, 1976, 7:30 p.m., at the Scioto School House.

Officers will be elected. New members and parents are welcome.

LINDA BALL

Linda Ball Heads The Mat Stats

By CATHY HENSON

Junior Linda Ball is the president of the Mat Stats of TVHS. The Mat Stats is a second-year organization designed to help the wrestling coaches, encourage the wrestlers, and to promote good school spirit about the sport.

Linda likes being a stat because, "I like wrestling and I get to meet a lot of other people from the other schools that also like wrestling."

According to Linda, the biggest responsibility as president is to help keep everything organized for the coaches.

"We also have to be willing to dedicate almost all of our weekends to go to the wrestling meets," she says.

The size of the club has decreased because it is so time consuming. Those participating this year are Linda Ball, Kathy Williamson, Linda Leming, Vickie Urdack, Tami Wells, Sandy Shaw, Pam Wells, and Debbie Gagan.

Linda is also active in the ski club, student council, and she is also a football stat. Her favorite hobbies are horseback riding, ice skating, and going to wrestling meets and basketball games.

A Page Of Opinion

Looking For Integrity

As the months roll by it is apparent that some people in high political office have not learned the primary lesson of Watergate and other political scandals of recent years. That is simply that integrity remains a virtue in this country. Further, the people are becoming wise to the ways of the charlatan.

Inflation ranks high among the concerns of people polled in public opinion samplings. And economists who once pretended there was little correlation between large budget deficits and inflation no longer are given credence.

Those observations lead to 1976 — a major election year. If past tradition is any example, some candidates for public office next year, incumbents and challengers alike, will be posturing for votes. One of the favorite campaign tools of the past has been the Washington money machine.

It isn't called that by the candidate who proposes vast new programs and offers no plans to fund them, but it is inflation that he really is selling. It just could be that in 1976 the public will not be buying that ruinous argument — or the candidate who offers it.

The bicentennial year is an excellent time to begin talking and acting political and economic common sense.

Nipping The Pinch

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Last week the Wall Street Journal carried a story headlined, "CAREER WOMEN DECRY SEXUAL HARASSMENT BY BOSSES AND CLIENTS."

It delineates the case studies of female workers who have been confronted with amorous-intentioned males, and described their reactions — which seem to range from simple outrage to downright fear.

A 40-year-old woman bank executive finds important clients offering her their business if she'll go out with them. She is dismayed. Finally she sits down with each potential Lothario and tells him that her social and business lives are separate, so he can take his business elsewhere if he chooses. She loses no business through this approach, but claims "sexual harassment" is "frightening."

A 44-year-old mother of five, working in a prestigious Eastern university, claims the job of fending off a married professor's advances caused her to develop severe neck pains. After bearing the agony for nine months, she finally quit her job and shortly thereafter the pains ceased. But she couldn't collect unemployment compensation because officials said sexual harassment is not an intolerable job situation. They were a pain in the neck, too.

In Washington, D. C., a government worker claims to have rebuffed a boss, who got even by taking away all of her duties and abolishing her position. She sued in U.S. District Court, lost the first round, and is appealing.

"As the issue of sexual harassment increasingly comes out into the open," reports of Journal's Mary Bralove, "women are turning to one another for mutual support and are sharing tactics to defend themselves against future incidents." So we may soon see the formation of Harassed Women Anonymous.

(On the other side of the coin, an executive friend called last week to say he is being sued for sexual harassment because he asked a female job applicant if she was married. "My God, the job would have required her to relocate. I would have asked any male applicant that question immediately," he moaned. But if you get personal with a woman, it's considered sexist.)

So-called "sexual harassment" has, of course, existed through the ages. Nothing whatever has changed — except the attitudes of the people involved.

In my early days as an aspiring newspaper reporter, when an editor or fellow newsman tried to make advances, I didn't think of it as harassing. I thought of it as flattering. You did your job as well as you knew how and, if a superior or a peer considered you worthwhile to pursue on an extra-curricular basis, you considered yourself attractive, rather than oppressed. You thought of yourself, in fact, as being discriminated in favor of — rather than against.

After all, as a competent career woman, it was your decision to say yes or no to the social advances of males. If you rejected a man nicely, there never was any fear of career reprisals — at least not among the hundreds of working women I have known from the pre-liberation-movement era. Admittedly, we were held back from top executive positions and salaries because we were women — but our personal romantic preferences were not held against us.

To put it perhaps too simplistically, we struggled for success in an era when men and women enjoyed each other as separate, attracted sexes. Men reveled in being men, and women were proud to be different — and magnetic.

Today, in the massive effort for equality, both males and females in the business and social structure are looking over their shoulders to see who may be gaining on them — or pinching their derrieres.

Across the country (according to the Journal) there are small pockets of working women boldly speaking out, seeking protection from unwanted sexual advances. Men, too, are "the unwilling objects of such advances."

though less frequently. It is the old "casting couch syndrome" which allegedly launched many a starlet of the 1930s on her Hollywood career, that is raising its sinister sexy head . . . except that, in the 1970s the starlets of the working world are putting down their feet, rather than their inhibitions. And more and more, they are organizing to put a stop, legally if possible, to the sexual inclinations of men.

It is, of course, indecent and should be unlawful, if men use threats of job loss or career setbacks if women do not choose to meet their amorous demands. And, in the rare cases where this may occur, legal action is justified.

However, in forming massive anti-"sexual harassment" crusades, a relatively small group of women could stir up a nationwide backlash among male employees and employers. The day could come when male workers, fearful of being jeered or sued, will turn their backs on all career women, refusing to give them even an admiring glance.

On that day, where will a poor working girl look for a man to latch onto for life?

Gas Deregulation Measure Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved a measure that would boost natural gas prices slightly by removing controls from independent producers, but it rejected administration plans to deregulate the big producers.

The House voted Thursday to lift federal price controls from an estimated 3,500 independent producers but to retain price controls on the 25 to 30 largest producers and extend the ceilings to gas transactions within individual states. Those intrastate sales have hitherto been unregulated.

The House bill differs fundamentally from a measure passed by the Senate which would gradually end all price controls on natural gas. The two measures now go to a conference committee where the outlook for a compromise is unclear.

The administration had backed complete decontrol of the industry to allow prices to rise enough to stimulate exploration for new gas.

One congressman who worked for total decontrol later complained that the House bill would actually regulate 75 per cent of the U.S. supply of natural gas, compared to 65 per cent that is now regulated.

The independent producers which would escape regulation are defined as producing less than 100 billion cubic feet a year and account for only about 25 per cent of the natural gas produced in the United States, with the other 75 per cent accounted for by the larger producers.

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, sponsor of the bill, estimated the legislation would allow prices charged by independent producers to rise from an average of 35 cents per thousand cubic feet to about 51.

But what this price rise would mean to the consumer was not as easily forecast, mainly because of the wide variety of possible combinations of gas derived from both unregulated and regulated producers.

However, the Federal Energy Administration said any increase to the consumer is likely to be minimal. In addition, only about 17 per cent to 25 per cent of the residential consumer's gas bill is for the actual cost of the fuel. The rest is for pipeline transportation charges and the local utility's charge for delivering the gas to customers.

Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards said the House bill was "patently unconstitutional." If it becomes law, Louisiana, which leads the nation in gas production, will seek a court ruling that the federal government has no constitutional right to regulate the price of natural gas within state borders, Edwards said.

—The House action was also denounced by Exxon, the largest American petroleum company, as "an extreme example of punitive legislation against major oil companies."

—The president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which represents natural gas independents, criticized the measure as an effort to cause a split between independents and major companies.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Saturday, Feb. 7, the 38th day of 1976. There are 328 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1945, the postwar future was being shaped by President Franklin Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Winston Churchill and Soviet Premier Joseph Stalin at the Yalta Conference on the Black Sea.

On this date —

In 1778, Daniel Boone and 27 others were captured by Indians at Blue Lick, Ky.

In 1812, the English writer, Charles Dickens, was born in Portsmouth, England.

In 1904, a fire virtually wiped out downtown Baltimore.

In 1941, in World War II, British forces captured the port of Bengasi in Libya.

In 1948, Gen. Dwight Eisenhower resigned as Army chief of staff. He was succeeded by Gen. Omar Bradley.

In 1962, 298 miners were killed in a coal mine explosion at Saarbruecken, Germany.

Ten years ago: President Lyndon Johnson and South Vietnamese government chiefs were conferring in Hawaii on the war in South Vietnam.

Five years ago: The U.S. Apollo 14 astronauts were speeding toward a splashdown in the Pacific after a successful moon landing.

One year ago: Two Soviet cosmonauts returned safely to earth after 30 days in orbit around the earth.

Today's birthdays: Writer Gay Talese is 44. Former Puerto Rican Governor Luis Ferre is 72.

Thought for today: We are under a Constitution, but the Constitution is what the judges say it is. — Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes, 1862-1948.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, word-of-mouth news spread fast at George Washington's military camp at Cambridge, Mass. Several diaries record that two soldiers tried to see who could drink the most, and one of them died.

"We saw the movie last week. I'd just like to buy some popcorn."

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

The gains in successful results following removal of the breast for cancer are most encouraging.

Undoubtedly, early detection and early surgery make these dividends increase.

Mammography is a special X-ray technique used for the early detection of breast cancer. Now, an additional value to mammography seems to be on the horizon.

Dr. John N. Wolfe, of the Hutzel Hospital in Detroit, believes that mammography can also be used to predict "which women are likely to develop the disease."

Dr. Wolfe has established four categories of mammographies and believes that, by this method, the very earliest changes can be evaluated. Thus, even before any clinical evidence of trouble is apparent in the breast, some form of diagnosis and treatment can be established.

Undoubtedly, this will add further to the statistical success of recovery.

The National Eye Institute, a part of the enormous complex of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., is embarking on a vast project of research. Helped by grants from the Federal government, many visual disturbances whose mysteries have yet to be uncovered will be attacked.

Prevention of diseases of the retina, too, will be one of the targets. Diseases of the cornea, glaucoma and cataract still present challenges, even though a great deal's known.

Dr. Carl Kupfer, director of the National Eye Institute, feels that this expanded program will offer "new methods of early detection and, improved therapeutic techniques."

Churches Enter Plutonium Arena

NEW YORK (AP) — A fateful choice, seen variously as offering either "untold good" or "incalculable evil" for humanity, currently is being argued among American religious and scientific thinkers.

Instead of dividing the two camps, however, it has drawn members of each into joint alliances, but on both sides of the issue, with philosophical jabs from scientists and theologians alike.

At stake is whether an energy-short world should turn to an immense, reproducible source of nuclear power, the byproduct plutonium that can be multiplied even as it is used, to boost continuing economic growth and a richer society.

It could mean a "Faustian bargain," says bioethics professor Margaret Maxey of the University of Detroit, referring to the storied Faust who made a deal with the devil for temporary delights eventuating in doom.

On the other hand, she adds, it could provide an unprecedented spur to a "new level of cultural evolution," bringing acceptance of "the imposition of a global commitment to a permanent, stable, more just social order."

The question was debated last week at a hearing by the National Council of Churches on a proposed statement by a panel of scientists, urging a U.S. moratorium — to allow more study — on programs to expand plutonium use in industry.

It would require a "technological paradise" of flawlessly arranged and universally heeded controls to prevent such expansion from poisoning the earth, said Nobel prize-winning physicist Hannes Alfvén of the University of California.

Observed biochemist John T. Edsall of Harvard University: "I'm unable to see such a degree of stability now or likely in the near future. It would demand a stability that has never existed."

If humanity became sensitized to the alternatives and was aware that maintaining the quality of their lives depended on it, "perhaps such a stable order would eventuate," Prof. Maxey said. "It's worth considering."

Nuclear engineer David J. Rose of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said that "certainty is impossible in the real world," but the potential benefits justify the risks, which are part of any major advance.

Like several scientists, he occasionally cited Bible quotations to back his points. He noted that in Genesis 4:8, "Cain slew Abel, legend has it with the jawbone of an ass. God did not abolish jawbones, but still works to improve the descendants of Cain."

Christian ethicist Preston Williams of Harvard University Divinity School said contentions opposing expanded plutonium use "seem to rest on fears of people — fears of big government, big military policing, the big bomb."

Need Cash For Amtrak, Solon Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman whose district may lose an Amtrak route because of funding limits says budget constraints could prevent the passenger service from becoming the national system Congress intended.

Rep. B. F. Sisk said Congress must continue to support Amtrak politically and monetarily if it was serious about making railroad passenger service part of a balanced national transportation system when it formed the semi-public corporation in 1970.

Sisk spoke as a House transportation and commerce subcommittee concluded hearings Friday on proposed criteria that would give Amtrak new flexibility in adding or dropping routes.

The Ford administration's plan for $378 million in Amtrak spending in fiscal 1977 would undercut Amtrak's ability to operate as a national railroad, the California Democrat said. Amtrak had asked for $440 million and corporation president Paul Reistrup has warned that 19 routes would be jeopardized unless Amtrak receives it.

Sisk said unless Congress considers this budget problem "the administration will have decided by fiat what passenger train service routes will operate and which ones will cease."

Amtrak also has indicated it will request a supplemental appropriation for the current fiscal year. The corporation wants an extra $21 million that was authorized but never appropriated, a spokesman says.

Probe Blast At House

CINCINNATI (AP) — The president of the Cincinnati Gas & Electric Company said the company has no record of a telephone call last Sunday by a Cincinnati fireman who said he reported a gas leak.

William Dickhoner said an examination of company records disclosed no such call.

The fireman, Donald Edwards, moved his family to a motel because of the fumes. The house exploded Thursday causing $23,000.

Edwards told the department he telephoned CG&E Sunday and returned daily to the Fairmount section to air out the house. He said he still smelled the gas but thought it was pockets left after the utility turned off the gas.

Fire Chief Burt Lukananni ordered a thorough investigation.

A Page Of Opinion

Looking For Integrity

As the months roll by it is apparent that some people in high political office have not learned the primary lesson of Watergate and other political scandals of recent years. That is simply that integrity remains a virtue in this country. Further, the people are becoming wise to the ways of the charlatan.

Inflation ranks high among the concerns of people polled in public opinion samplings. And economists who once pretended there was little correlation between large budget deficits and inflation no longer are given credence.

Those observations lead to 1976 — a major election year. If past tradition is any example, some candidates for public office next year, incumbents and challengers alike, will be posturing for votes. One of the favorite campaign tools of the past has been the Washington money machine.

It isn't called that by the candidate who proposes vast new programs and offers no plans to fund them, but it is inflation that he really is selling. It just could be that in 1976 the public will not be buying that ruinous argument — or the candidate who offers it.

The bicentennial year is an excellent time to begin talking and acting political and economic common sense.

Nipping The Pinch

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE

NEW YORK — Last week the Wall Street Journal carried a story headlined, "CAREER WOMEN DECRY SEXUAL HARASSMENT BY BOSSES AND CLIENTS."

It delineates the case studies of female workers who have been confronted with amorous-intentioned males, and described their reactions — which seem to range from simple outrage to downright fear.

A 40-year-old woman bank executive finds important clients offering her their business if she'll go out with them. She is dismayed. Finally she sits down with each potential Lothario and tells him that her social and business lives are separate, so he can take his business elsewhere if he chooses. She loses no business through this approach, but claims "sexual harassment" is "frightening."

A 44-year-old mother of five, working in a prestigious Eastern university, claims the job of fending off a married professor's advances caused her to develop severe neck pains. After bearing the agony for nine months, she finally quit her job and shortly thereafter the pains ceased. But she couldn't collect unemployment compensation because officials said sexual harassment is not an intolerable job situation. They were a pain in the neck, too.

In Washington, D. C., a government worker claims to have rebuffed a boss, who got even by taking away all of her duties and abolishing her position. She sued in U.S. District Court, lost the first round, and is appealing.

"As the issue of sexual harassment increasingly comes out into the open," reports of Journal's Mary Bralove, "women are turning to one another for mutual support and are sharing tactics to defend themselves against future incidents." So we may soon see the formation of Harassed Women Anonymous.

(On the other side of the coin, an executive friend called last week to say he is being sued for sexual harassment because he asked a female job applicant if she was married. "My God, the job would have required her to relocate. I would have asked any male applicant that question immediately," he moaned. But if you get personal with a woman, it's considered sexist.)

So-called "sexual harassment" has, of course, existed through the ages. Nothing whatever has changed — except the attitudes of the people involved.

In my early days as an aspiring newspaper reporter, when an editor or fellow newsman tried to make advances, I didn't think of it as flattering. You did your job as well as you knew how and, if a superior or a peer considered you worthwhile to pursue on an extra-curricular basis, you considered yourself attractive, rather than oppressed. You thought of yourself, in fact, as being discriminated in favor of — rather than against.

After all, as a competent career woman, it was your decision to say yes or no to the social advances of males. If you rejected a man nicely, there never was any fear of career reprisals — at least not among the hundreds of working women I have known from the pre-liberation-movement era. Admittedly, we were held back from top executive positions and salaries because we were women — but our personal romantic preferences were not held against us.

To put it perhaps too simplistically, we struggled for success in an era when men and women enjoyed each other as separate, attracted sexes. Men reveled in being men, and women were proud to be different — and magnetic.

Today, in the massive effort for equality, both males and females in the business and social structure are looking over their shoulders to see who may be gaining on them — or pinching their derrieres.

Across the country (according to the Journal) there are small pockets of working women boldly speaking out, seeking protection from unwanted sexual advances. Men, too, are "the unwilling objects of such advances."

Gas Deregulation Measure Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House approved a measure that would boost natural gas prices slightly by removing controls from independent producers, but it rejected administration plans to deregulate the big producers.

The House voted Thursday to lift federal price controls from an estimated 3,500 independent producers but to retain price controls on the 25 to 30 largest producers and extend the ceilings to gas transactions within individual states. Those intrastate sales have hitherto been unregulated.

The House bill differs fundamentally from a measure passed by the Senate which would gradually end all price controls on natural gas. The two measures now go to a conference committee where the outlook for a compromise is unclear.

The administration had backed complete decontrol of the industry to allow prices to rise enough to stimulate exploration for new gas.

One congressman who worked for total decontrol later complained that the House bill would actually regulate 75 per cent of the U.S. supply of natural gas, compared to 65 per cent that is now regulated.

The independent producers which would escape regulation are defined as producing less than 100 billion cubic feet a year and account for only about 25 per cent of the natural gas produced in the United States, with the other 75 per cent accounted for by the larger producers.

though less frequently. It is the old "casting couch syndrome" which allegedly launched many a starlet of the 1930s on her Hollywood career, that is raising its sinister sexy head... except that, in the 1970s the starlets of the working world are putting down their feet, rather than their inhibitions. And more and more, they are organizing to put a stop, legally if possible, to the sexual inclinations of men.

It is, of course, indecent and should be unlawful, if men use threats of job loss or career setbacks if women do not choose to meet their amorous demands. And, in the rare cases where this may occur, legal action is justified.

However, in forming massive anti-"sexual harassment" crusades, a relatively small group of women could stir up a nationwide backlash among male employees and employers. The day could come when male workers, fearful of being jeered or sued, will turn their backs on all career women, refusing to give them even an admiring glance.

On that day, where will a poor working girl look for a man to latch onto for life?

Rep. Neal Smith, D-Iowa, sponsor of the bill, estimated the legislation would allow prices charged by independent producers to rise from an average of 35 cents per thousand cubic feet to about $1.

But what this price rise would mean to the consumer was not as easily forecast, mainly because of the wide variety of possible combinations of gas derived from both unregulated and regulated producers.

However, the Federal Energy Administration said any increase to the consumer is likely to be minimal. In addition, only about 17 per cent to 25 per cent of the residential consumer's gas bill is for the actual cost of the fuel. The rest is for pipeline transportation charges and the local utility's charge for delivering the gas to customers.

Meanwhile, there were these developments:

—Louisiana Gov. Edwin Edwards said the House bill was "patently unconstitutional." If it becomes law, Louisiana, which leads the nation in gas production, will seek a court ruling that the federal government has no constitutional right to regulate the price of natural gas within state borders, Edwards said.

—The House action was also denounced by Exxon, the largest American petroleum company, as "an extreme example of punitive legislation against major oil companies."

—The president of the Independent Petroleum Association of America, which represents natural gas independents, criticized the measure as an effort to cause a split between independents and major companies.

Couple Wins Housing Case

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mr. and Mrs. James R. Harper were awarded $10,000 Friday by a federal jury in their fair housing case against a real estate company and two of its sales representatives, but Harper said, "No amount of money could pay for the suffering we've gone through."

The Harpers are black and the jury that found for the University Heights, Ohio, couple against Thomas Reap Realty Co. of Gates Mills, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. George F. Cermak, was all white.

It was the first such case decided by a federal court.

The Harpers filed suit last August against the realtor and the Cermaks, charging the defendants refused to rent the Harpers a home because the Harpers are black.

The jury's decision found the defendants had denied the Harpers equal housing opportunities which are guaranteed by federal law. The jury awarded the Harpers $4,500 on the basis of that finding.

The panel also awarded them $5,500 in punitive damage, finding the defendants had "willfully, want only and maliciously" denied the Harpers equal housing opportunity.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester I. Coleman, M.D.

The gains in successful results following removal of the breast for cancer are most encouraging.

Undoubtedly, early detection and early surgery make these dividends increase.

Mammography is a special X-ray technique used for the early detection of breast cancer. Now, an additional value to mammography seems to be on the horizon.

Dr. John N. Wolfe, of the Hutzel Hospital in Detroit, believes that mammography can also be used to predict "which women are likely to develop the disease."

Dr. Wolfe has established four categories of mammographies and believes that, by this method, the very earliest changes can be evaluated. Thus, even before any clinical evidence of trouble is apparent in the breast, some form of diagnosis and treatment can be established.

Undoubtedly, this will add further to the statistical success of recovery.

The National Eye Institute, a part of the enormous complex of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., is embarking on a vast project of research. Helped by grants from the Federal government, many visual disturbances whose mysteries have yet to be uncovered will be attacked.

Prevention of diseases of the retina, too, will be one of the targets. Diseases of the cornea, glaucoma and cataract still present challenges, even though a great deal is known.

Dr. Carl Kupfer, director of the National Eye Institute, feels that this expanded program will offer "new methods of early detection and, improved therapeutic techniques."

Churches Enter Plutonium Arena

NEW YORK (AP) — A fateful choice, seen variously as offering either "untold good" or "incalculable evil" for humanity, currently is being argued among American religious and scientific thinkers.

Instead of dividing the two camps, however, it has drawn members of each into joint alliances, but on both sides of the issue, with philosophical jabs from scientists and theologians alike.

At stake is whether an energy-short world should turn to an immense, reproducible source of nuclear power, the byproduct plutonium that can be multiplied even as it is used, to boost continuing economic growth and a richer society.

It could mean a "Faustian bargain," says bioethics professor Margaret Maxey of the University of Detroit, referring to the storied Faust who made a deal with the devil for temporary delights eventuating in doom.

On the other hand, she adds, it could provide an unprecedented spur to a "new level of cultural evolution," bringing acceptance of "the imposition of a global commitment to a permanent, stable, more just social order."

The question was debated last week at a hearing by the National Council of Churches on a proposed statement by a panel of scientists, urging a U.S. moratorium — to allow more study — on programs to expand plutonium use in industry.

It would require a "technological paradise" of flawlessly arranged and universally heeded controls to prevent such expansion from poisoning the earth, said Nobel prize-winning physicist Hannes Alfvén of the University of California.

Observed biochemist John T. Edsall of Harvard University: "I'm unable to see such a degree of stability now or likely in the near future. It would demand a stability that has never existed."

If humanity became sensitized to the alternatives and was aware that maintaining the quality of their lives depended on it, "perhaps such a stable order would eventuate," Prof. Maxey said. "It's worth considering."

Nuclear engineer David J. Rose of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology said that "certainty is impossible in the real world," but the potential benefits justify the risks, which are part of any major advance.

Like several scientists, he occasionally cited Bible quotations to back his points. He noted that in Genesis 4:8, "Cain slew Abel, legend has it with the jawbone of an ass. God did not abolish jawbones, but still works to improve the descendants of Cain."

Christian ethicist Preston Williams of Harvard University Divinity School said contentions opposing expanded plutonium use "seem to rest on fears of people — fears of big government, big military policing, the big bomb."

Need Cash For Amtrak, Solon Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressman whose district may lose an Amtrak route because of funding limits says budget constraints could prevent the passenger service from becoming the national system Congress intended.

Rep. B. F. Sisk said Congress must continue to support Amtrak politically and monetarily if it was serious about making railroad passenger service part of a balanced national transportation system when it formed the semi-public corporation in 1970.

Sisk said unless Congress considers this budget problem "the administration will have decided by fiat what passenger train service routes will operate and which ones will cease."

Amtrak also has indicated it will request a supplemental appropriation for the current fiscal year. The corporation wants an extra $21 million that was authorized but never appropriated, a spokesman says.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Husband's Free Time Tied Up By Family

DEAR ABBY: My husband is being used by his family, only he can't see it. He works six days a week, and I like to plan something for us to do together on his day off.

Well, three weeks ago, his mother called on his day off and asked him if he would take her shopping. He said yes, so there went our plans.

The next week, his sister called to ask if he would help her move on his day off. He said he would, so there went our plans for that day again.

Last week, his brother called and said he needed help to unload a truckload of wood, so my husband, the fool, spent his whole day off helping his brother.

I finally got mad and told him that he was putting his family before me, and he said, "Well, I've known them for 21 years, and I've only known you a year and a half."

When do you think he will start putting me ahead of them?

EVERYBODY BEFORE ME
DEAR ABBY: According to the way your husband figures, it will take at least another 20 years.

DEAR ABBY: A man I had always thought was married asked me for a date I turned him down, saying I do not date married men.

He then told me that he was not really "married" because he is a Catholic and he was married by a justice of the peace, so in the eyes of the Church he is single.

Is that right?
Please let me know because it's against my principles to go out with a married man. Thank you.

PLAYING IT SAFE
DEAR ABBY: Unless this man obtained a legal divorce, in the eyes of the LAW he is married.

DEAR ABBY: Clyde and I have been dating for eight months. We love each other very much and have talked about getting married.

We eat out on weekends and take turns paying for the meal. (We both have good jobs.) Here's the problem:

I am a very slow eater, and Clyde eats fast. While I'm eating my first course, Clyde eats his, plus his salad, and then he eats my salad too.

When the main courses come, he devours his in no time, and then reaches over and starts in on mine. Before I've had three bites, Clyde has eaten everything on my plate!

I don't order desert anymore because Clyde gobbles his up and mine, too.

What kind of a husband do you think he'd make? His hogghishness is not only disgusting and embarrassing, it leaves me.

HUNGRY

DEAR HUNGRY: Clyde's hogghishness isn't your only problem. An appalling lack of communication between two people who "love each other" is just as serious.

What's wrong with telling Clyde how you feel about his eating habits? Do that, and then you'll know what kind of husband he'd make.

Stout Attends Homebuilders Conference

J. Boyd Stout, serving his second term as a Trustee of The National Council of the Housing Industry, attended meetings of the board, in Dallas, Texas. NCHI is made up of the nation's leading suppliers of products and services to the building industry, with special concern for the problems of housing.

Primary issues facing builders at the moment are: "Sensible Growth", "New Sources of Energy", and "The Affordable Home".

Providing a new home to middle income families becomes more difficult as land, labor, materials and financing costs continue to rise. Builders are confronted with the economic problem that only 9 per cent of families in the 25 to 35 age bracket can afford a $40,000 home—only 17 per cent, a $34,000 home—25 per cent a $29,000 home—while 49 per cent must keep their costs below $25,000.

The NCHI meeting preceded the 32nd Annual Convention Exposition of The National Association of Home Builders. Some 50,000 builders and associates attended, including delegations from eight foreign countries. President Ford addressed the conference by remote control. Other notable speakers included Carla Hills, Secretary of HUD and Senators Hubert Humphrey and Edward Brooke.

In recognition of many years of service to The National Association of Home Builders, J. Boyd Stout was honored by election as a life Director of the 76,000 member organization.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Husband's Free Time Tied Up By Family

DEAR ABBY: My husband is being used by his family, only he can't see it. He works six days a week, and I like to plan something for us to do together on his day off.

Well, three weeks ago, his mother called on his day off and asked him if he would take her shopping. He said yes, so there went our plans.

The next week, his sister called to ask if he would help her move on his day off. He said he would, so there went our plans for that day again.

Last week, his brother called and said he needed help to unload a truckload of wood, so my husband, the fool, spent his whole day off helping his brother.

I finally got mad and told him that he was putting his family before me, and he said, "Well, I've known them for 21 years, and I've only known you a year and a half."

When do you think he will start putting me ahead of them?

EVERYBODY BEFORE ME
DEAR EVERYBODY: According to the way your husband figures, it will take at least another 20 years.

DEAR ABBY: A man I had always thought was married asked me for a date I turned him down, saying I do not date married men.

He then told me that he was not really "married" because he is a Catholic and he was married by a justice of the peace, so in the eyes of the Church he is single.

Is that right?

Please let me know because it's against my principles to go out with a married man. Thank you.

PLAYING IT SAFE
DEAR PLAYING: Unless this man obtained a legal divorce, in the eyes of the LAW he is married.

DEAR ABBY: Clyde and I have been dating for eight months. We love each other very much and have talked about getting married.

We eat out on weekends and take turns paying for the meal. (We both have good jobs.) Here's the problem:

I am a very slow eater, and Clyde eats fast. While I'm eating my first course, Clyde eats his, plus his salad, and then he eats my salad too.

When the main courses come, he devours his in no time, and then reaches over and starts in on mine. Before I've had three bites, Clyde has eaten everything on my plate!

I don't order desert anymore because Clyde gobbles his up and mine, too.

What kind of a husband do you think he'd make? His hogishness is not only disgusting and embarrassing, it leaves me.

HUNGRY
DEAR HUNGRY: Clyde's hogishness isn't your only problem. An appalling lack of communication

Stout Attends Homebuilders Conference

J. Boyd Stout, serving his second term as a Trustee of The National Council of the Housing Industry, attended meetings of the board, in Dallas, Texas. NCHI is made up of the nation's leading suppliers of products and services to the building industry, with special concern for the problems of housing.

Primary issues facing builders at the moment are: "Sensible Growth", "New Sources of Energy", and "The Affordable Home".

Providing a new home to middle income families becomes more difficult as land, labor, materials and financing costs continue to rise. Builders are confronted with the economic problem that only 9 per cent of families in the 25 to 35 age bracket can afford a $40,000 home—only 17 per cent, a $34,000 home — 25 per cent a $29,000 home — while 49 per cent must keep their costs below $25,000.

The NCHI meeting preceded the 32nd Annual Convention Exposition of The National Association of Home Builders. Some 50,000 builders and associates attended, including delegations from eight foreign countries. President Ford addressed the conference by remote control. Other notable speakers included Carla Hills, Secretary of HUD and Senators Hubert Humphrey and Edward Brooke.

In recognition of many years of service to The National Association of Home Builders, J. Boyd Stout was honored by election as a life Director of the 76,000 member organization.

Miss Sharon Kay Thomas Bride Of Earl Ronnie Hart

MR. AND MRS. EARL RONNIE HART

Mt. Carmel Church was decorated with vases of red and white carnations on the altar table backed with two seven-branch candelabra holding red and white tapers for the wedding of Miss Sharon Kay Thomas and Mr. Earl Ronnie Hart.

The Rev. Paul Mercer officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Thomas, Route 1, South Bloomingville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hart, Route 2, Laurelville, 3:30 p.m., Jan. 17.

Mr. Elsworth Jackson, pianist, presented a program of pre-nuptial selections and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father past the pews marked with red and white satin bows, and given in marriage by both of her parents.

For her wedding day the bride designed and made her gown of white velvet with a lace edged V-neckline on the fitted bodice featuring long puffed sleeves edged in lace at the gathered cuffs. The high waistline, trimmed with lace, topped the floor length flared skirt. The bride's veil of illusion flowing softly to her fingertips was held by a Juliet cap of white velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations, and baby's breath with white satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

Miss Sharon Kay Thomas Bride Of Earl Ronnie Hart

MR. AND MRS. EARL RONNIE HART

Mt. Carmel Church was decorated with vases of red and white carnations on the altar table backed with two seven-branch candelabra holding red and white tapers for the wedding of Miss Sharon Kay Thomas and Mr. Earl Ronnie Hart.

The Rev. Paul Mercer officiated the double ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don B. Thomas, Route 1, South Bloomingville, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hart, Route 2, Laurelville, 3:30 p.m., Jan. 17.

Mr. Elsworth Jackson, pianist, presented a program of pre-nuptial selections and "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father past the pews marked with red and white satin bows, and given in marriage by both of her parents.

For her wedding day the bride designed and made her gown of white velvet with a lace edged V-neckline on the fitted bodice featuring long puffed sleeves edged in lace at the gathered cuffs. The high waistline, trimmed with lace, topped the floor length flared skirt. The bride's veil of illusion flowing softly to her fingertips was held by a Juliet cap of white velvet. She carried a colonial bouquet of red and white carnations, and baby's breath with white satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

Adena Blasts Westfall In Big SVC Contest

Adena, which Wednesday claimed a share of the Ross County League championship by ripping Huntington, moved a step closer to the SVC title with a 50-32 win over visiting Westfall Friday.

The Warriors, 14-2 in all games and 10-1 in the SVC, have one game remaining on the loop schedule. Zane Trace, 8-1 with a win over Huntington Friday, has the only chance to keep pace with Adena.

Westfall dropped to 5-4 in the league and 9-6 in all games.

Dave Givens and Clark Gilmore paced the Warriors with 15 and 13 points respectively. Junior Tim Ragland and sophomore Kevin Roll added eight each as Adena won its eighth straight contest.

Bill Hamman paced the Mustangs with nine points, playing what Coach Mike Eckle called "an excellent game." Hamman led the Westfall attack, beating the feared Adena press and committing no turnovers.

High-scoring Kevin Reid was held to six markers, Chris Riddle hit for five, Mack Dick and Terry Hanson scored four each, Jeff Karshner scored two, and Bill Evans hit a point at the free-throw line.

Adena held a slim 6-4 lead after the first period, but expanded the margin to 25-15 at the half, and 36-24 at the end of three periods.

The 19-point Adena second period was actually the undoing of the Mustangs. The Warriors made only four shots from the floor in the quarter, making up the difference at the foul line.

The game was a lot closer than the 18-point final margin, Coach Eckle said. "They didn't blow us out until late in the fourth quarter," he said.

The old Westfall nemesis, poor shooting, was the deciding factor, however.

The Mustangs, with only 13 baskets,

ACC Teams Rack Up Cage Wins

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Think the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams have been tough on each other this year? Look at what they've been doing to everyone else.

The ACC teams, who have knocked each other around with little regard to national or conference ranking, have a stunning won-lost record against outside opposition.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked North Carolina State improved that record to a dazzling 70-8 with victories Friday night. The Tar Heels beat Georgia Tech 79-74 and the Wolfpack routed Furman 102-76 in the annual North-South doubleheader at Charlotte.

"I enjoyed the game, but it probably wasn't very exciting for the fans," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan, indicating relief from the tension of the mad ACC race.

hit a dismal 28 per cent.

"We got the shots we wanted, worked the little games we had practiced all week, and got good movement," Coach Eckle said. "Actually, we did everything we wanted to against Adena but put the ball in the hole."

The Mustangs missed 13 shots from inside the foul lane, he said. "We just never got hot."

Westfall will face another strong SVC team when they host Southeastern Friday.

Sheila Young Wins Bronze In Skating

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Sheila Young failed in her bid to become the winningest American athlete in the history of the Winter Olympics when she finished third to Russia's Tatiana Averina in the women's 1,000-meter speed skating race today.

Miss Young, the multi-talented athlete from Detroit, earned her third medal by swirling around the slick course in 1 minute 29.14 seconds. But it wasn't enough.

Miss Averina, bronze medalist in the earlier 500 and 1,500-meter races, won the 1,000-meter event in Olympic record time of 1 minute 28.43 seconds, surpassing the mark of 1:31.40, set by Monika Holzner of West Germany in 1972.

Leah Poulos of Northbrook, Ill., who failed to crash the medal ceremony in two earlier events here, finished second in 1:28.57 to earn the silver medal.

The 25-year-old Miss Young had won the 500-meter speed skating race Friday in Olympic record time after striking silver Thursday in the 1,500-meter event.

The third-place finish ended Miss Young's Olympic career, which still rates near the top of all American competitors in the 48-year history of these prestigious Games.

Only two Americans, speed skaters John Shea and Irving Jaffee in the 1932 Games, ever have won twice at one Winter Olympics.

Kenny Carr scored North Carolina State's first 16 points and wound up with 39 in the lopsided contest.

"He pushed himself and played real hard," Sloan said.

Phil Ford scored 20 points and North Carolina overcame the loss of center Mitch Kupchak with an eye injury to beat Georgia Tech.

"I was pleased by our performance and the way our team hung on to win," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "This was the kind of game you need to win. Maybe we weren't ready for Tech but that was my fault."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas was upset by Pepperdine 93-91 and No. 15 Princeton whipped Columbia 69-53.

Carr, a 6-foot-7 sophomore who led the ACC with a 29-point scoring average before the game, equalled that figure in the first half against Furman, hitting 13 of 16 shots. Most were layups or short jumpers as he hit eight times in less than eight minutes for a 16-10 Wolfpack lead over the Southern Conference team.

Carr finished with 15-of-24 shots from the field, 9-of-13 from the foul line and 20 rebounds as his team, 16-3, hit the century mark for the eighth time this season.

Kupchak, North Carolina's top rebounder and a 17.9 points-per-game scorer, was struck in his left eye in the fifth minute against Georgia Tech and never returned. He complained of double vision and was taken to a hospital for examination.

Without Kupchak to contend with, Georgia Tech, 8-11, ran up an early 24-10 lead. After North Carolina battled back with 10 straight points, the teams were tied at the half at 42. North Carolina took the lead for good at 65-63, then resorted to its four-corner spread offense over the last five minutes to stay in front.

Ollie Matson, Jr., hit a jump shot with five seconds left to give Pepperdine a shocking upset over previously unbeaten Nevada-Las Vegas. It was the first loss in 23 games this season for Jerry Tarkanian's team, which had swamped Pepperdine 118-101 in their last meeting. Barnes Hauptfuhrer scored 19 points to lead Princeton past Columbia and boost the Tigers' Ivy League record to 5-0.

Buddy Allin Still Leads Hope Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Buddy Allin still has the lead, but Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper have a tactical advantage going into the windup rounds of the $180,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"Yes, I have to admit it's a little bit of an advantage," Nicklaus said after he salvaged a round of par with a spectacular eagle-birdie finish Friday in the third round of this five-day, 90-hole, four-course tournament.

"Even if it isn't the easiest of the four courses, playing two consecutive rounds on the same course has to be a help," Nicklaus said.

Nicklaus and the veteran Casper, one stroke back of Allin, play their next two rounds at Indian Wells, the shortest and easiest of the four par 72 desert courses used in this unique event. Allin, on the other hand, must play today's fourth round at La Quinta, probably the toughest of the four.

All players have one round each at Indian Wells, Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta and Eldorado before the field is cut. All survivors then play the final fifth round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Cincinnati Blanks Edmonton; Wins 7-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It is nice to have a 3-point margin," said Cincinnati Stingers Coach Terry Slater looking forward to tonight's game at Indianapolis with the rival Racers.

Cincinnati shut out Edmonton Friday night 7-0 to move back into second place ahead of Cleveland in the Eastern Division. Indianapolis lost to Houston. Indianapolis remains third.

Cincinnati goalie Paul Hoganson recorded his fourth shutout of the season and first at home and the Stingers broke a fivegame losing streak.

Black Hawks Beat Flames In NHL, 2-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago defenseman Dale Tallon was just hanging around his own half of the ice with nothing to do once he got rid of the puck.

"I kinda dumped it out and Ivan Boldirev deflected it and picked it up," Tallon decided to head up ice to see what Boldirev was going to do with it.

"I saw Ivan burst in all alone and I thought I'd skate up to the blue line and see what was happening."

Nothing much was happening...but something was about to.

"No one was coming with me, so I yelled at Boldirev, who gave me a perfect backhand pass and I put it in the net. I was surprised that none of the Flames were around me for the breakaway."

Tallon's sixth goal of the season with 51 seconds remaining gave the Black Hawks a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the Atlanta Flames Friday night. Tallon came in alone on goalie Dan Bouchard after taking Boldirev's return pass and beat him from in close to snap Chicago's four-game losing streak and give them a 10-point lead in the Smythe Division over the second-place Vancouver Canucks, who lost 5-3 to the St. Louis Blues.

Elsewhere, the Detroit Red Wings nipped the New York Islanders 4-3 and the Montreal Canadiens trounced the California Golden Seals 7-1.

Gears Rip Columbus Owls, 9-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Center Marcel Comeau and wingman Dave Westner scored three goals apiece and newly acquired center Wayne Zuk picked a goal and an assist as the Saginaw Gears bombed the Columbus Owls, 9-4, Friday in the International Hockey League.

Saginaw is now 28-17-7 for first place in the North Division. Columbus is 18-28-6 for last place in the South.

In other IHL action, Flint's right-winger Bob Law scored three goals as the Generals defeated the Muskegon Mohawks, 5-2.

Flint's record is 22-20-10 for fourth place in the North. Muskegon is 23-20-9 for third place in the North.

Meanwhile, the Port Huron Flags jumped off to a 2-0 first period lead on goals by rightwing Len Chalmers and center Len Fontaine, and went on to defeat the Kalamazoo Wings, 5-3.

Port Huron is now 26-18-7 for second place in the North. Kalamazoo is 17-27-7 for fifth place in the North.

In Toledo, Dave Johnson and Tom Sundberg each scored two goals as Toledo defeated Fort Wayne 8-4. The triumph snapped a 10-game Toledo losing streak and improved the Goadiggers' South Division record to 16-25-13.

The Komets, led by Terry McDougall with a pair of goals, suffered their 24th loss against 18 victories and 11 ties.

Adena Blasts Westfall In Big SVC Contest

Adena, which Wednesday claimed a share of the Ross County League championship by ripping Huntington, moved a step closer to the SVC title with a 50-32 win over visiting Westfall Friday.

The Warriors, 14-2 in all games and 10-1 in the SVC, have one game remaining on the loop schedule. Zane Trace, 8-1 with a win over Huntington Friday, has the only chance to keep pace with Adena.

Westfall dropped to 5-4 in the league and 9-6 in all games.

Dave Givens and Clark Gilmore paced the Warriors with 15 and 13 points respectively. Junior Tim Ragland and sophomore Kevin Roll added eight each as Adena won its eighth straight contest.

Bill Hamman paced the Mustangs with nine points, playing what Coach Mike Eckle called "an excellent game." Hamman led the Westfall attack, beating the feared Adena press and committing no turnovers.

High-scoring Kevin Reid was held to six markers, Chris Riddle hit for five, Mack Dick and Terry Hanson scored four each, Jeff Karshner scored two, and Bill Evans hit a point at the free-throw line.

Adena held a slim 6-4 lead after the first period, but expanded the margin to 25-15 at the half, and 36-24 at the end of three periods.

The 19-point Adena second period was actually the undoing of the Mustangs. The Warriors made only four shots from the floor in the quarter, making up the difference at the foul line.

The game was a lot closer than the 18-point final margin, Coach Eckle said. "They didn't blow us out until late in the fourth quarter," he said.

The old Westfall nemesis, poor shooting, was the deciding factor, however.

The Mustangs, with only 13 baskets,

hit a dismal 28 per cent.

"We got the shots we wanted, worked the little games we had practiced all week, and got good movement," Coach Eckle said. "Actually, we did everything we wanted to against Adena but put the ball in the hole."

The Mustangs missed 13 shots from inside the foul line, he said. "We just never got hot."

Westfall will face another strong SVC team when they host Southeastern Friday.

ACC Teams Rack Up Cage Wins

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

Think the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball teams have been tough on each other this year? Look at what they've been doing to everyone else.

The ACC teams, who have knocked each other around with little regard to national or conference ranking, have a stunning won-lost record against outside opposition.

Fourth-ranked North Carolina and 10th-ranked North Carolina State improved that record to a dazzling 70-8 with victories Friday night. The Tar Heels beat Georgia Tech 79-74 and the Wolfpack routed Furman 102-76 in the annual North-South doubleheader at Charlotte.

"I enjoyed the game, but it probably wasn't very exciting for the fans," said North Carolina State Coach Norm Sloan, indicating relief from the tension of the mad ACC race.

Kenny Carr scored North Carolina State's first 16 points and wound up with 39 in the lopsided contest.

"He pushed himself and played real hard," Sloan said.

Phil Ford scored 20 points and North Carolina overcame the loss of center Mitch Kupchak with an eye injury to beat Georgia Tech.

"I was pleased by our performance and the way our team hung on to win," said North Carolina Coach Dean Smith. "This was the kind of game you need to win. Maybe we weren't ready for Tech but that was my fault."

In other games involving ranked teams, No. 3 Nevada-Las Vegas was upset by Pepperdine 93-91 and No. 15 Princeton whipped Columbia 69-53.

Carr, a 6-foot-7 sophomore who led the ACC with a 29-point scoring average before the game, equalled that figure in the first half against Furman, hitting 13 of 16 shots. Most were layups or short jumpers as he hit eight times in less than eight minutes for a 16-10 Wolfpack lead over the Southern Conference team.

Carr finished with 15-of-24 shots from the field, 9-of-13 from the foul line and 20 rebounds as his team, 16-3, hit the century mark for the eighth time this season.

Kupchak, North Carolina's top rebounder and a 17.9 points-per-game scorer, was struck in his left eye in the fifth minute against Georgia Tech and never returned. He complained of double vision and was taken to a hospital for examination.

Without Kupchak to contend with, Georgia Tech, 8-11, ran up an early 24-10 lead. After North Carolina battled back with 10 straight points, the teams were tied at the half at 42.

North Carolina took the lead for good at 65-63, then resorted to its four-corner spread offense over the last five minutes to stay in front.

Ollie Matson, Jr., hit a jump shot with five seconds left to give Pepperdine a shocking upset over previously unbeaten Nevada-Las Vegas. It was the first loss in 23 games this season for Jerry Tarkanian's team, which had swamped Pepperdine 118-101 in their last meeting. Barnes Hauptfuhrer scored 19 points to lead Princeton past Columbia and boost the Tigers' Ivy League record to 5-0.

Sheila Young Wins Bronze In Skating

INNSBRUCK (AP) — Sheila Young failed in her bid to become the winningest American athlete in the history of the Winter Olympics when she finished third to Russia's Tatiana Averina in the women's 1,000-meter speed skating race today.

Miss Young, the multi-talented athlete from Detroit, earned her third medal by swirling around the slick course in 1 minute 29.14 seconds. But it wasn't enough.

Miss Averina, bronze medalist in the earlier 500 and 1,500-meter races, won the 1,000-meter event in Olympic record time of 1 minute 28.43 seconds, surpassing the mark of 1:31.40, set by Monika Holzner of West Germany in 1972.

Leah Poulos of Northbrook, Ill., who failed to crash the medal ceremony in two earlier events here, finished second in 1:28.57 to earn the silver medal.

The 25-year-old Miss Young had won the 500-meter speed skating race Friday in Olympic record time after striking silver Thursday in the 1,500-meter event.

The third-place finish ended Miss Young's Olympic career, which still rates near the top of all American competitors in the 48-year history of these prestigious Games.

Only two Americans, speed skaters John Shea and Irving Jaffee in the 1932 Games, ever have won twice at one Winter Olympics.

Seven athletes have won three gold medals in the same Winter Olympics, including Frenchman Jean-Claude Killy in Alpine skiing in 1968, Galina Kulakova of the Soviet Union in Nordic skiing in 1972 and Dutchman Ard Schenk in speed skating in 1972.

Miss Young, world cycling champion in 1973, still ranks as one of the sports world's most versatile athletes.

Miss Poulos, from the Chicago suburb that calls itself the ice skating capital of the world, ended a personal Olympic nonmedal streak that included finishes of 17th and 24th in the 1972 Olympics and sixth in the 1,500 meters and fourth in the 500 meters earlier in these 12th Winter Games.

Miss Tatiana's victory gave the powerful Soviet Union team four gold medals. East Germany has two gold medals and Finland, Austria and the United States all have one.

East Germany, the emerging sports power which finished second in the 1972 Winter Olympics, won its first two gold medals of the 1976 Games today when Margit Schumann won the women's luge and Detlef Guenther won the men's luge.

Finland, which didn't win a single gold medal in the 1972 Sapporo Games, won its first gold medal of these 12th Winter Games as Helena Takalo won the women's five-kilometer (3.1 miles) cross-country ski race in 15 minutes 48.69 seconds.

Buddy Allin Still Leads Hope Golf

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — Buddy Allin still has the lead, but Jack Nicklaus and Billy Casper have a tactical advantage going into the windup rounds of the $180,000 Bob Hope Desert Golf Classic.

"Yes, I have to admit it's a little bit of an advantage," Nicklaus said after he salvaged a round of par with a spectacular eagle-birdie finish Friday in the third round of this five-day, 90-hole, four-course tournament.

"Even if it isn't the easiest of the four courses, playing two consecutive rounds on the same course has to be a help," Nicklaus said.

Nicklaus and the veteran Casper, one stroke back of Allin, play their next two rounds at Indian Wells, the shortest and easiest of the four par 72 desert courses used in this unique event. Allin, on the other hand, must play today's fourth round at La Quinta, probably the toughest of the four.

All players have one round each at Indian Wells, Bermuda Dunes, La Quinta and Eldorado before the field is cut. All survivors then play the final fifth round Sunday at Indian Wells.

Cincinnati Blanks Edmonton; Wins 7-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — "It is nice to have a 3-point margin," said Cincinnati Stingers Coach Terry Slater looking forward to tonight's game at Indianapolis with the rival Racers.

Cincinnati shut out Edmonton Friday night 7-0 to move back into second place ahead of Cleveland in the Eastern Division. Indianapolis lost to Houston. Indianapolis remains third.

Cincinnati goalie Paul Hoganson recorded his fourth shutout of the season and first at home and the Stingers broke a fivegame losing streak.

Wheelchair Cage Game Scheduled

The Pickaway County Easter Seal Society for Crippled Children and Adults is once again sponsoring a Wheelchair Basketball Game to be held February 14, 7:30 p.m. at the Circleville Junior High Mill Street Gym.

The Columbus Buckeye Wheelers will take on the Circleville Jaycees during the second half. All members of the Wheelers have either permanent leg disability or paralysis of the lower body. In spite of the severe handicaps these men have conditioned themselves to participate in any number of sports including Wheelchair Basketball. Local players with the Wheelers are Larry Stant, Roy Nungester and James Lockard.

Halftime entertainment will be provided by the American Cadets under the direction of Diana Moss.

Tickets for the wheelchair event are available at Bingmans, Super-X, Risch drugs, at the door or from any Easter Seal member. All proceeds go to the local Easter Seal Society for helping the handicapped in Pickaway County.

Y To Hold Pass-Shoot Contest

Pickaway County Family YMCA will hold the seventh annual Pass-Shoot-and-Dribble Contest, Feb. 14, from 8 a.m. to noon, at the YMCA. The event will be co-sponsored by the Optimist Club of Chillicothe.

Contest will be open to boys and girls, ages 8-13, who are YMCA members. Participants will compete only against those of their own age. Gym shoes will be required.

Awards will be given to first, second, and third place winners in each category.

Applications are available at the YMCA, 151 E. Franklin St. Deadline for completion of application is 5 p.m. Friday, Feb. 13.

Black Hawks Beat Flames In NHL, 2-1

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Chicago defenseman Dale Tallon was just hanging around his own half of the ice with nothing to do once he got rid of the puck.

"I kinda dumped it out and Ivan Boldirev deflected it and picked it up," Tallon decided to head up ice to see what Boldirev was going to do with it.

"I saw Ivan burst in all alone and I thought I'd skate up to the blue line and see what was happening."

Nothing much was happening...but something was about to.

"No one was coming with me, so I yelled at Boldirev, who gave me a perfect backhand pass and I put it in the net. I was surprised that none of the Flames were around me for the breakaway."

Tallon's sixth goal of the season with 51 seconds remaining gave the Black Hawks a 2-1 National Hockey League victory over the Atlanta Flames Friday night. Tallon came in alone on goalie Dan Bouchard after taking Boldirev's return pass and beat him from in close to snap Chicago's four-game losing streak and give them a 10-point lead in the Smyth Division over the second-place Vancouver Canucks, who lost 5-3 to the St. Louis Blues.

Elsewhere, the Detroit Red Wings nipped the New York Islanders 4-3 and the Montreal Canadiens trounced the California Golden Seals 7-1.

Gears Rip Columbus Owls, 9-4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Center Marcel Comeau and wingman Dave Westner scored three goals apiece and newly acquired center Wayne Zuk picked a goal and an assist as the Saginaw Gears bombed the Columbus Owls, 9-4, Friday in the International Hockey League.

Saginaw is now 28-17-7 for first place in the North Division. Columbus is 18-28-6 for last place in the South.

In other IHL action, Flint's right-winger Bob Law scored three goals as the Generals defeated the Muskegon Mohawks, 5-2.

Flint's record is 22-20-10 for fourth place in the North. Muskegon is 23-20-9 for third place in the North.

Meanwhile, the Port Huron Flags jumped off to a 2-0 first period lead on goals by rightwing Len Chalmers and center Len Fontaine, and went on to defeat the Kalamazoo Wings, 5-3.

Port Huron is now 26-18-7 for second place in the North. Kalamazoo is 17-27-7 for fifth place in the North.

In Toledo, Dave Johnson and Tom Sundberg each scored two goals as Toledo defeated Fort Wayne 8-4. The triumph snapped a 10-game Toledo losing streak and improved the Goadiggers' South Division record to 16-25-13.

The Komets, led by Terry McDougall with a pair of goals, suffered their 24th loss against 18 victories and 11 ties.

Your Horoscope Television Schedule

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR SUNDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Do not let the unfamiliar keep you from accepting it on that basis alone. Where you carefully check for flaws and find none, invite the innovation.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Your artistry and creativity stimulated. A time to "dress up" old ideas and methods and make them more attractive.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): You can expect a pleasant day, with associates full of good will and congeniality. Day especially favors community affairs, cultural interests and social functions.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Do not become frustrated over possible delays and disappointments. And DO watch the "little things" which could cause unnecessary friction in close circles.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Fine influences! You should be able to hurdle almost any obstacle now, but curb tendencies toward emotionalism and impulsiveness.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): A splendid period in which to renew affectionate ties through mutual interests and pleasures. Your domestic affairs especially favored.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Unless careful, you could become inextricably involved in a most undesirable situation. Don't play games with another's emotions - no matter how stimulating it may seem at the moment.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): A bit of friendly advice could mushroom into a profitable move. Don't hesitate to grab the chance when you get it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): A pleasant surprise due. You finally receive assurance that your ideas are sound and will be carried out - bringing a tremendous increase in your prestige.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Get all promises in writing. Others will respect you, if fair but firm. A slight disappointment could eventually rebound to your benefit so... patience!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Caution will be your ally now. Be wary - and a shrewd observer. A so-called friend may be trying some unsavory maneuvers. Watch and wait - and you will emerge victorious.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20):

20): A good time to take the initiative in business matters, to express independence of thought and action. You are sometimes too hesitant for your own good.

YOU BORN TODAY are a lively and enthusiastic individual, an innate giver, wishing to please and accomplish in first-rate fashion. You are always learning something new and your investigative mind loves the extraordinary. Many scientists, architects, inventors and successful industrial and business leaders have been born under Aquarius. You are also creatively inclined, and have a great love of art, music and literature. Birthdate of: William Tecumseh Sherman, Union general, U.S.A. Civil War; Jules Verne and John Ruskin, authors; Lana Turner, film star.

21 Returns To Early Days

NEW YORK (AP) — More celebrities from the entertainment, political and social worlds are said to have turned out for the "Lucky Lady" party here than for any other New York party of 1975. The 21 Club, which was a speakeasy in the Prohibition era, was turned into a pseudo-speakeasy for the party, held after an invitational screening of the film about rumrunners.

Liza Minnelli and Burt Reynolds, two of the stars, flew to New York for the occasion, Miss Minnelli and her husband, Jack Haley Jr., arriving from Rome, where she is making a new film with her father, Vincente Minnelli.

Other celebrities present were Mayor and Mrs. Abraham Beame; former Mayor Robert Wagner, and his wife, the former Phyllis Cerf; Ryan O'Neal; Rudolf Nureyev; Lee Radziwill; Gloria Vanderbilt; Lauren Hutton; Joan Fontaine; Hope Hampton; Woody Allen; Monique Van Vooren; Lorna Luft; Halston; Elsa Martinelli; Pat Lawford; Mrs. Jake Javits; Mrs. William F. Buckley Jr.; Jane Pickens Langley; Sidney Lumet; Andy Warhol; Lois Chiles; Marisa Berenson, and James Wyeth.

The Iron Gate Dam, built jointly by Romania and Yugoslavia, produces more power than any other hydroelectric installation in Europe outside the Soviet Union, National Geographic says.

WASHINGTON (AP) — A doubling of U.S. coal production within the next 10 years is forecast by the National Coal Assn., the Department of Transportation and other government agencies, and will provide a major step to national energy independence.

Within the railroad industry, there is no question about "transportation capacity" to meet the coal industry's increasing demands for hauling large additional quantities of coal each year. According to the Association of American Railroads, U.S. railroads carried more than 390 million tons of coal in 1974 and all the principal coal-hauling railroads are now investing heavily in new equipment to handle the anticipated increase. New railroad equipment outlays over the next 10 years — to meet the needs of the coal industry alone — are scheduled at more than $1 billion.

The average adult has enough iron in his body to make a two-inch nail.

Icebergs in the North Atlantic draw attention because they are hazards to shipping, but they are pickers compared with icebergs found in Antarctic waters. Some Antarctic bergs have been estimated to be as large as the state of Delaware, the National Geographic Society says.

Career Day Part Of Bicentennial Observance At McDowell School

INFORMAL APPROACH — A parent panel used the large group facilities at McDowell Exchange School for a discussion about family living during the recent career day there. Members of the parent panel pictured are Bob Bowers, Eleanor Bowers, Larry Plum, Julie Plum, Jean Reichelderfer, Ned Reichelderfer and David Gleason, moderator.

The George McDowell Exchange School of the Logan Elm District had a career and Parent Panel Discussion Day January 28 as a part of the school's bicentennial program.

The rationale for the bicentennial event is the importance of these areas in a democratic society. Two of the most important choices people in a free society must make are job selection and the family pattern.

Doyne Wiggins and Dorothy Hamrick, assisted by the McDowell faculty, co-chaired the program.

Many careers were discussed and 23 resource people shared their expertise during the half-hour presentations. The seventh and eighth grade students were rotated through four career stations during the morning session.

One highlight of the day was the mock job interviews. Ed Davis, training specialist from DuPont, demonstrated the job interview situation using Sheila Slonecker, Belinda Fee, Scott Allen and Jeff Reichelderfer, Logan Elm seniors, as the job applicants. Every McDowell student had the opportunity to see the job interview.

The 440 students listened to multi-presentations in the following career areas with these resource people: secretarial, Joy Slone; social work, Beth Malone; cosmetology, Bonnie Fout; nursing, Cathy Tomlinson; receptionist, Velma Burtner; food services, Nancy Steele; elementary education, Marjorie Evans; home economics, Beverly Bechtel; retail sales clerk, Keith Thomerson; agriculture, David Evans; armed forces, Sgt. Reynolds; mechanics, Jeff Clifton; law enforcement, Bill Dountz; truck driving, Al York; forestry-wild life management, Kenny Temple; building trades, Jim Lytle; secondary education, Dean Barr; factory-industrial worker, Tom Duvall and Ed Hart; utility worker, Howard Bobo; insurance, Larry Plum and physical education-coaching, Bill Frost.

Wiggins and Mrs. Hamrick in conjunction with the Circleville Area Chamber of Commerce contacted these career specialists. Chamber members working with the McDowell faculty were Larry Plum, Chamber president; Steve Stevenson, vice-president; Jean Ankrom, executive director and Jim Butler, education committee chairman.

During the afternoon segment two parent panel discussions were presented to the students. One panel consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Plum and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer was moderated by David Gleason, principal of the McDowell school. The other panel, moderated by Jessie Smith, McDowell home economics teacher, had Mrs. William Hildenbrand, Mr. and Mrs. John Scanlon and Mr. and Mrs. C. Asa Bradbury as members. These parents, all residents of the Logan Elm district, shared their views on the many aspects of parent-child relationships and interactions. A question and answer period followed these presentations.

The afternoon program ended with several career films which were made available for student viewing by Sharon Peters, school library technician.

On Thursday morning, January 29, Bill McKinney, personnel director of DuPont, showed a multi-slide presentation explaining the various aspects and opportunities available in the area of industrial employment. Mr. McKinney's informative program concluded the bicentennial study. Both the career opportunities and the parent panel discussions gave the students unique learning situations.

One Adult, Nine Youths Go To Juvenile Court

One adult and nine youths appeared recently in Pickaway County Juvenile Court. Deanna Lynn Sagraves of Stoutsville, headed the court's docket with a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor. The court fined her $100 and suspended a six-month jail sentence. Ms. Sagraves was also placed on probation for two years.

A speeding violation brought a one-month license suspension to Steven Rawlins, 18, Route 1. He was also ordered to pay the court costs.

The court suspended sentences to the Ohio Youth Commission for a 17-year-old Orient boy and an 18-year-old Route 1, Amanda boy. Both boys were charged with vandalism. The court also ordered each of the two to do community work and placed them on probation for two years.

Charges of vandalism, aggravated burglary, aggravated menacing and violation of probation were disposed of against a 15-year-old Circleville boy. The boy was originally sentenced to the Ohio Youth Commission but the court suspended that sentence, ordering him to make restitution to the N&W Railroad. The court also ordered the boy to stay away from the railroad.

Michael McCabe, 16, Route 2, appeared on a charge of drag racing. The court fined McCabe $25 and suspended his license for six months. His license was restored for driving to school and traffic school during the suspension.

A second youth charged with drag racing received the same sentencing. Larry A. Carter, 16, also of Route 2, was originally fined $50 with $25 suspended and received the same license suspension as McCabe.

An 18-year-old Circleville boy appeared on a charge of criminal damaging or endangering property. The court placed him on probation for one year and ordered him to make restitution and pay the court costs within 30 days.

Finally, the court heard a case against a 17-year-old South Bloomfield boy charged with vandalism. The court suspended a sentence to the Ohio Youth Commission and placed the boy on probation for three years, ordering him to complete a specified amount of community work.

Extension Of Daylight Time Pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Daylight Saving Time set to open a six month run from April 25 to Oct. 31, moves are under way in Congress to extend it to eight months.

Convinced that crime, energy use and traffic accidents drop during Daylight Saving Time, the Senate Commerce Committee has approved legislation to return most states to Daylight Saving for roughly eight months, from the first Sunday in March through the second Sunday in November this year and next.

The House Commerce Committee has yet to hold hearings on a new Daylight Saving Time bill.

A move to keep the six-month period was defeated by the Senate Commerce Committee in favor of eight months and one week of DST and three months and three weeks of standard time this year and in 1977.

During that two-year period, the Department of Transportation would reach final conclusions on how Americans fare under DST. The Senate committee says the department's interim report shows "small but significant benefits to the general public from an additional two months of advanced (DST) time each year."

Using the department data, the panel predicts permanent eight-month DST would mean at least a 1 per cent cut in electricity usage, which translates to about 100,000 barrels of oil per day; a saving of 50 lives and 2,000 injuries in traffic accidents each year; no adverse effect on school children who have to wait for buses in early-morning darkness, and likely reductions in street crime.

Perhaps one of the most intriguing facets of the daylight savings debate is that the Senate bill would extend daylight savings not for eight months, as in 1975, but for eight months and one week.

The reason: Eight months would mean a time change the day before the national elections. Presumably, an extra week would cushion incumbent congressmen against the ire of die-hard proponents of standard time.
